

Laurence Turtle

Laurence Turtle is passionate about family history having gained a keen interest from his grandmother, who had a treasure trove of family history documents in her back room. Laurie has been a transcription agent for the NSW Registry of BDM's for over 20 years. He holds a BA, Dip Ed and a Diploma in Family History completed through the Society of Australian Genealogists. He has also completed the Archives Course at NSW State Records. He was a teacher in a "former life" and enjoyed teaching history, especially Australian history. Together with his wife Lorraine, Turtle Consolidated Services offers a research service that particularly focuses on NSW. However, we can often also help with other areas of your research as we have many years of research experience.
