

Martyn Killion

As Director, Collections, Martyn has oversight of the care, management and accessibility of Museums of History NSW collections which include the State Archives Collection, the Caroline Simpson Collection and house museum collections. This involves ensuring the proper transfer of material including transfer of records into the State Archives Collection and their documentation; their care through conservation; and providing services for the public to access the collections.

Martyn has over 35 years' experience in the NSW Public Sector. This includes a long association with NSW State Archives and extensive government experience particularly in the area of culture and the arts having worked in a number of roles at Arts NSW (now Create NSW) and in cultural institutions.